Business Report

(April 1, 2025 - March 31, 2026)

1. Overview of the Corporate Group

(1) Business Progress and Results

During the fiscal year under review, the economy of Japan maintained its gradual recovery, driven by positive trends centered on domestic demand, such as capital investment and consumer spending, and corporate income remained solid. On the other hand, it is necessary to keep a close eye on the uncertainty caused by U.S. trade policies and the impact of disruptions in energy markets caused by the situation in the Middle East. Moreover, wage and income growth lacks strength and is still not stably exceeding price increases. In order to overcome these challenges and achieve economic growth, companies must take measures such as sustainably increasing wages and income, transitioning to decarbonization that reduces reliance on oil and coal, which are highly dependent on overseas sources, and improving productivity by promoting AI and digital investments.

Under these circumstances, the Group's consolidated business results for the fiscal year under review were supported by the effects of steady progress in the amount of construction work that had been carried over from the end of the previous fiscal year and a high amount of orders received, as well as the effects of M&A activities. As a result, net sales amounted to 61,028 million yen (up 9.7% year on year).

In terms of profits, in addition to the increase in net sales, the Group worked to ensure thorough process management and cost control, as well as continuing cost reductions across all aspects of the business to improve construction profitability. As a result, ordinary profit amounted to 5,451 million yen (up 18.2% year on year), and profit attributable to owners of parent was 3,870 million yen (up 21.4% year on year).

Regarding the Company's (non-consolidated) business results for the fiscal year under review, orders received increased by 16,267 million yen (up 29.8% year on year) to 70,824 million yen while net sales increased by 7,254 million yen (up 15.3% year on year) to 54,821 million yen.

The Company's business results by segment for the fiscal year under review are as follows:

Orders received for indoor wiring, ventilation and air conditioning works increased by 6,736 million yen (up 17.4% year on year) to 45,398 million yen and net sales increased by 5,503 million yen (up 18.5% year on year) to 35,304 million yen.

Orders received for power distribution line works increased by 686 million yen (up 5.3% year on year) to 13,757 million yen and net sales increased by 1,161 million yen (up 9.4% year on year) to 13,461 million yen.

Orders received for power transmission-transformation and civil engineering works increased by 8,998 million yen (up 827.7% year on year) to 10,085 million yen and net sales increased by 640 million yen (up 18.0% year on year) to 4,194 million yen.

(3) Issues to Be Addressed

Although the Japanese economy can be expected to continue its gradual recovery due to the effects of various policy measures amid an improving employment and income environment, the impact of continued price rises on consumer spending through a downturn in consumer confidence, as well as trends in U.S. trade policies and the impact of disruptions in energy markets caused by the situation in the Middle East, pose negative risks to the economy. In addition, it is necessary to remain fully aware of the effects of fluctuations in financial markets, etc.

In the construction industry, which is the Group's main business, although there are causes for concern, such as the announcement of cancellations and postponements of large-scale construction projects due to soaring construction costs and serious labor shortages, robust construction investment is expected to continue for the time being, and the environment remains favorable for receiving orders for equipment installation work at reasonable construction periods and prices, and this is expected to lead to business expansion. On the other hand, the continued upward trend in labor costs and material prices, as well as the downward trend in the number of construction industry employees (shortage of workers), are issues faced by the industry as a whole.

Moreover, in the Hokuriku region, where the Group is based, the economic scale and workforce are expected to decrease at an accelerated pace due to a declining birth rate, an aging population and a faster pace of population decline than in metropolitan areas. Accordingly, it is necessary to contribute to the development and revitalization of the region by continuing to proactively respond to needs for construction investment related to restoration and reconstruction following the 2024 Noto Peninsula Earthquake and heavy rains.

Against this backdrop, the Group will steadily implement growth measures to secure stable construction volumes and profits, such as further boosting the Hokuriku region market share, strengthening order and construction frameworks in metropolitan areas, expanding into new business domains such as M&A activities and overseas markets, and making proactive investments in human resources. At the same time, by further promoting DX, including the utilization of AI, the Group will achieve labor-saving, efficiency improvement and sophistication for its operations, leading to management that balances reduced workloads with increased added value.

With the above in mind and in order to continue to earn the trust of society and our customers, we will thoroughly ensure safety and quality, which is the starting point of the construction business, and strive to fulfill our corporate social responsibility, such as by reducing our environmental impact, and increase our value, while complying with laws, regulations and social norms and fully demonstrating the capabilities of the Group to contribute to the community. As a corporate group that protects essential infrastructure, we will also respond to the demands that have high social priority, such as reinforcement for disaster prevention and disaster mitigation.

(4) Amount of Remuneration, etc. Paid to Directors and Audit and Supervisory Board Members for the Fiscal Year under Review

- 1) Matters related to the policy for determining the content of remuneration, etc. for each Director

The Company's policy for determining the content of remuneration, etc., for each Director (the "Determination Policy") is determined by resolution of the Board of Directors. Remuneration for Directors consists of basic remuneration, bonuses (performance-linked remuneration) and share-based remuneration (non-monetary remuneration), with Outside Directors and part-time Directors receiving basic remuneration.

Basic remuneration is a fixed monthly remuneration and is determined comprehensively while taking into account the level of other companies, the Company's business performance, and employees' salaries, in accordance with position, responsibility, and service years in the office.

Bonuses are monetary remuneration that reflect performance indicators in order to raise awareness of the need to improve business performance each fiscal year. They are calculated based on the degree of achievement for each fiscal year and are paid as a bonus at a specific time each year.

Furthermore, the purpose of share-based remuneration is to increase awareness for contributing to medium- to long-term performance increase as well as corporate value increase. Points are awarded at a specific time each year, based on position and taking into consideration the Company's business performance, and shares of the Company equivalent to the awarded points and a certain proportion of cash are paid upon retirement. Each point of the awarded points is converted into one share of the Company's common shares at the time of the provision.

The Company consults with the “Nomination and Remuneration Opinion Exchange Committee,” the majority of whose members are Independent Outside Directors, regarding the ratio of each type of remuneration, etc., and obtains their opinions and reports.

2) Matters related to resolutions of the General Meeting of Shareholders concerning remuneration, etc. of Directors and Audit and Supervisory Board Members

At the 110th Ordinary General Meeting of Shareholders held on June 27, 2024, it was resolved that the amount of monetary remuneration for Directors shall be up to 240 million yen (of which up to 24 million yen for Outside Directors) per year (not including employee salaries for Directors who concurrently serve as employees). As of the close of the 110th Ordinary General Meeting of Shareholders held on June 27, 2024, the number of Directors was eight (of whom three were Outside Directors).

At the 110th Ordinary General Meeting of Shareholders held on June 27, 2024, it was resolved that the amount of monetary remuneration for Audit and Supervisory Board Members shall be up to 48 million yen per year, and the number of Audit and Supervisory Board Members at the close of the said Ordinary General Meeting of Shareholders was three (of whom two were Outside Audit and Supervisory Board Members).

Regarding share-based remuneration, at the 110th Ordinary General Meeting of Shareholders held on June 27, 2024, it was resolved, separate from the resolution regarding the amount of monetary remuneration, that the maximum number of points to be granted to eligible Directors and Audit and Supervisory Board Members per one fiscal year shall be 11,300 points for Directors and 1,700 points for Audit and Supervisory Board Members. The number of Directors at the close of the said Ordinary General Meeting of Shareholders was four, and the number of Audit and Supervisory Board Members was one.

3) Matters related to the determination of the details of remuneration, etc., for each Director and Audit and Supervisory Board Member

The specific amount of remuneration for each Director is determined by Chairman and Representative Director Mr. Kazuhisa Mizutani, based on a resolution by the Board of Directors for the delegation of authority.

This involves the authority to decide the basic remuneration of each Director and to allocate remuneration based on the bonus evaluation of performance in each Director’s area of responsibility. This authority is delegated to the Chairman and Representative Director as he is the most suitable person to evaluate the responsibilities of each Director while overlooking the Company’s overall performance.

The Board of Directors has taken measures such as consulting with and receiving reports from the “Nomination and Remuneration Opinion Exchange Committee” regarding multifaceted considerations, including consistency with the Determination Policy, to ensure that such authority is properly exercised by the Chairman and Representative Director, and since each Director remuneration is determined through such procedures, the Company believes that the content of such remuneration is in line with the Determination Policy.

Remuneration, etc. for each Audit and Supervisory Board Member consists of a basic remuneration as a fixed remuneration and share-based remuneration, while Outside Audit and Supervisory Board Member receive basic remuneration. These are determined based on certain standards and through discussion between Audit and Supervisory Board Members.

 2. In order to raise awareness of the need to improve business performance each fiscal year, bonuses (performance-linked remuneration) are calculated by setting the non-consolidated ordinary profit as the single-year performance indicator target, and is paid as a bonus calculated according to the degree of achievement of this target at a specific time each year. The reason for selecting non-consolidated ordinary profit as the performance indicator is that it represents the overall profit of a company's management activities and is considered to be the most important indicator for the Company.
The amount of bonuses (performance-linked remuneration) provided is calculated by adding or subtracting an amount based on indicators that are set in proportion to ordinary profit to the standard amount set according to the position. The table below shows changes in the Company's ordinary profit, including the fiscal year under review.
 3. The above amount of share-based remuneration is the amount recorded as provision for share awards in the fiscal year under review under the share-based remuneration plan using a trust system (board benefit trust). (3) Matters on the Fiscal Year, etc. of Consolidated Subsidiaries

The fiscal year-end of the consolidated subsidiaries is the same as the consolidated balance sheet date.

(4) Matters on Accounting Policies

1) Criteria and methods for evaluation of significant assets

(a) Securities

Available-for-sale securities

Apart from shares, etc. without market prices:

Stated at fair value (the entire valuation difference is recognized directly in net assets, and the cost of securities sold is calculated using the moving-average method).

Hybrid financial instruments in which embedded derivatives cannot be measured separately are stated at fair value in their entirety, with the valuation difference recognized in non-operating income or expenses.

Shares, etc. without market prices:

Stated at cost using the moving-average method.

(b) Inventories

Costs on construction contracts in progress:

Stated at cost using the identified cost method.

Raw materials and supplies:

Generally stated at cost using the periodic average method (with the book value written down in the case of a decline in profitability).

- 2) Methods for depreciation of significant depreciable assets
 - (a) Property, plant and equipment (excluding leased assets)

Depreciated using the straight-line method.
 - (b) Intangible assets (excluding leased assets)

Software for internal use is amortized using the straight-line method based on the usable period within the Group (five years).
In addition, customer-related assets are amortized using the straight-line method over the period in which the effects are generated.
 - (c) Leased assets
Leased assets related to finance lease transactions not involving the transfer of ownership are depreciated using the straight-line method, based on the assumption that the useful life equals the lease term and the residual value equals zero.
- 3) Criteria for recognition of significant provisions
 - (a) Allowance for doubtful accounts
To provide for bad debt losses on trade receivables, loans receivable, and so forth, an allowance is recognized in the amount calculated using the loan loss ratio for general claims, and in the amount expected to be uncollectible taking into account the collectability on an individual basis for specific claims such as claims with a possibility of default.
 - (b) Provision for loss on construction contracts
To provide for future losses on construction contracts, a provision is recognized in the amount of estimated losses for construction contracts in progress as of the end of the fiscal year under review that are likely to incur losses whose amounts can be reasonably estimated.
 - (c) Provision for retirement benefits for directors (and other officers)
To provide for the payment of retirement benefits to directors and other officers, a provision is recognized in the amount required to pay at the end of the fiscal year under review in accordance with internal regulations.
 - (d) Provision for share awards for directors (and other officers)

 - (e) Provision for share awards for employees
To provide for future payments of the Company's shares to the Company's employees in accordance with the Share-Based Employee Benefit Regulations, a provision is recognized in the estimated amount of share payment obligations at the end of the fiscal year under review.
- 4) Other significant matters concerning preparation of consolidated financial statements
 - (a) Criteria for recognition of revenue and expenses
Criteria for recognition of net sales of completed construction contracts and cost of sales of completed construction contracts
Net sales of completed construction contracts are revenue from commissioned construction work based on construction contracts with customers.
Revenue from construction contracts for which performance obligations are fulfilled over a certain period of time is recognized progressively over a certain period of time, based on the degree of progress towards fulfilling performance obligations, estimated using the cost-to-cost method. However, if it is not possible to reasonably estimate the degree of progress towards fulfilling performance obligations, but it is expected that the expenses incurred will be recovered, revenue is recognized using the cost recovery method.

For other contracts, net sales of completed construction contracts and cost of sales of completed construction contracts are recognized at the time when the construction is completed and the specified object is delivered.

(b) Goodwill amortization method and amortization period

Goodwill is amortized using the straight-line method over a period not exceeding 20 years, reasonably determined on a case-by-case basis.

(c) Accounting method for retirement benefit liability

To provide for the payment of retirement benefits to employees, retirement benefit liability is recognized based on the estimated amount of retirement benefit obligations as of the end of the fiscal year under review. In calculating retirement benefit obligations, the estimated amount of retirement benefits is attributed to periods up to the end of the fiscal year under review using the straight-line basis.

Past service cost is expensed using the straight-line method over a fixed number of years (five years) within the employees' average remaining service period at incurrence.

Actuarial gains and losses are expensed in the fiscal year of incurrence.

The Company's consolidated subsidiaries apply a simplified method to record retirement benefit liability and retirement benefit expenses.

4. Notes on Accounting Estimates

(1) Net Sales of Completed Construction Based on Construction Contracts for Which Performance Obligations Are Fulfilled over a Certain Period of Time

1) Amounts recognized in the consolidated financial statements for the fiscal year under review

Listed below is the item that was recognized in the consolidated financial statements for the fiscal year under review in the amount based on an accounting estimate and that may have a significant impact on the consolidated financial statements for the following fiscal year.

Net sales of completed construction based on construction contracts for which performance obligations are fulfilled over a certain period of time: 37,629 million yen

2) Other information on accounting estimates that contributes to the understanding of users of consolidated financial statements

(a) Calculation method

Revenue from construction contracts for which performance obligations are fulfilled over a certain period of time is recognized based on the estimated degree of progress towards fulfilling performance obligations.

To calculate this, the “cost-to-cost method” is employed, in which the stage of completion of a contract as of the end of the fiscal year under review is determined by the proportion of contract costs incurred for the construction work performed by the end of the fiscal year under review to the total contract costs of the construction work.

(b) Primary assumptions

The stage of completion of a contract, which constitutes a significant estimate for the recognition of revenue from construction contracts for which performance obligations are fulfilled over a certain period of time, is based primarily on the assumption that the total contract costs have been reasonably estimated.

Every construction contract is different as it is performed according to the instructions of the customer in terms of the basic specifications and work details. This makes it difficult to establish uniform criteria for estimating total contract costs of construction work. Consequently, the estimated total contract costs of construction work involve uncertainty in that they are based on certain necessary assumptions and judgments made by site managers who have expert knowledge and experience in construction.

(c) Impact on the consolidated financial statements for the following fiscal year

The estimated total contract cost of construction will differ from the actual contract cost of construction in the event of changes in design and specifications, delays in construction, cost reduction activities, or fluctuations in unit prices of construction materials and labor due to changes in market conditions during the course of construction because of the generally long term nature of construction projects, which may have a significant impact on the amount of construction completed based on construction contracts that fulfill performance obligations for a certain period in the consolidated financial statements for the following fiscal year.

(2) Valuation of Goodwill and Customer-Related Assets

1) Amounts recognized in the consolidated financial statements for the fiscal year under review

Goodwill: 813 million yen

(of which, 663 million yen relates to Nikken Corporation)

Other (customer-related assets) 673 million yen

(all of the amounts given above relate to Nikken Corporation)

2) Other information on accounting estimates that contributes to the understanding of users of consolidated financial statements

(a) Calculation method

Goodwill is regularly amortized in accordance with “1. Significant Accounting Policies for Preparation of Consolidated Financial Statements (4) Matters on Accounting Policies 4) Other significant matters concerning preparation of consolidated financial statements (b) Goodwill amortization method and amortization period.” Likewise, customer-related assets are regularly amortized in accordance with “1. Significant Accounting Policies for Preparation of Consolidated Financial Statements (4) Matters on Accounting Policies 2) Methods for depreciation of significant depreciable assets (b) Intangible assets (excluding leased assets).” In the event of significant deterioration of the business environment or other indications of impairment, a determination is made to recognize an impairment loss. If the total undiscounted future cash flows from the asset or asset group for which there is an indication of impairment are less than the book value of said asset or asset group, an impairment loss is recognized.

Although signs of impairment have been identified for a group of assets including goodwill and customer-related assets related to Nikken Corporation, no impairment loss was recognized because the total undiscounted future cash flows exceeded the book value of the non-current assets including goodwill and customer-related assets.

(b) Primary assumptions

Undiscounted future cash flows used in the recognition and measurement of impairment losses are estimated based on the business plans of investees after the end of the fiscal year under review, which include assumptions regarding external factors such as the management environment of the investees.

The primary assumptions in the business plan, which form the basis of Nikken's undiscounted future cash flows, are to secure net sales growth by reviewing the types of construction work and areas to focus on, and to improve operating profit margin through thorough process and cost management and ongoing cost reductions throughout the company.

(c) Impact on the consolidated financial statements for the following fiscal year

If revision becomes necessary due to factors such as changes in the uncertain management environment in the future, this may impact the consolidated financial statements for the following fiscal year onwards.

(3) Impairment of Non-Current Assets

1) Amounts recognized in the consolidated financial statements for the fiscal year under review

Property, plant and equipment: 12,565 million yen

Intangible assets 102 million yen

* Excluding goodwill and customer-related assets

2) Other information on accounting estimates that contributes to the understanding of users of consolidated financial statements

(a) Calculation method

The Group treats management accounting classifications as a single grouping unit and assesses whether there are indications of impairment on an asset or asset group basis. If indications of impairment are identified, future cash flows to be generated by the asset group are estimated and compared with the book value to determine whether an impairment loss should be recognized.

In the fiscal year under review, although indications of impairment were identified for some asset groups related to renewable energy, no impairment loss was recognized because the undiscounted future cash flows exceeded the book value.

(b) Primary assumptions

The plans for the following fiscal year and beyond used to calculate future cash flows are based on business plans formulated based on certain assumptions regarding net sales and trends in the markets to which each asset group belongs, and are used after making necessary revisions based on recent results and available external information.

(c) Impact on the consolidated financial statements for the following fiscal year

These estimates may be affected by changes in the uncertain environment in the future, and if future business results, etc. deviate from the estimates, this may affect the valuation of non-current assets and have a significant impact on the consolidated financial statements for the following fiscal year onwards.

As a result, the Company's shares held by the trusts are recorded as "treasury shares" under shareholders' equity based on their book value in the trusts. As a result, treasury shares amounted to 1,800 million yen at the end of the fiscal year under review.

8. Notes on Financial Instruments

(1) Matters Related to the Status of Financial Instruments

1) Policy for financial instruments

The Group manages its funds by investing temporary surplus funds in highly safe financial assets and procures funds by borrowing from banks and other financial institutions.

2) Contents and risks of financial instruments and the risk management systems

Notes receivable, accounts receivable from completed construction contracts and other that constitute trade receivables are exposed to the customer's credit risk. In regard to this risk, a system has been established whereby the Group manages the due dates and balances of receivables from each counterparty and periodically monitors the creditworthiness of major counterparties.

Shares that constitute investment securities are exposed to the risk of market price fluctuations. However, those are primarily the shares of the companies with which the Group has business relationships, and a system has been established whereby the Group periodically monitors the fair value.

Most of trade payables will be due within one year.

(2) Matters Related to the Fair Value, etc. of Financial Instruments

The table below shows the amounts reported on the consolidated balance sheet, fair value, and difference between them as of March 31, 2026.

Note that shares, etc. without market prices (amount reported on the consolidated balance sheet: 586 million yen) have not been included in “securities and investment securities.”

Moreover, notes have been omitted for cash, and notes have been omitted for deposits, notes receivable - trade, accounts receivable from completed construction contracts and other, notes payable, accounts payable for construction contracts and other, accounts payable - other and income taxes payable, which are settled over a short period of time, and for which the carrying amount therefore approximates fair value.

(In millions of yen)

	Amount reported on the consolidated balance sheet	Fair value	Difference
1) Securities and investment securities
Available-for-sale securities	1,540	1,540	-
2) Long-term time deposits	3,900	3,900	-
Total assets	5,440	5,440	-

(3) Breakdown of Financial Instruments by Level of Fair Value

The fair value of financial instruments is classified into the following three levels based on the observability and significance of the inputs used to calculate fair value.

Level 1 fair value: Fair value calculated using (unadjusted) market prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities

Level 2 fair value: Fair value calculated using directly or indirectly observable inputs other than those in Level 1

Level 3 fair value: Fair value calculated using significant unobservable inputs

When multiple inputs that have a material impact on the calculation of fair value are used, the calculated fair value is classified at the lowest level of the inputs used.

1) Financial assets and financial liabilities carried on the consolidated balance sheets at fair value

(In millions of yen)

Class	Fair value
	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3	Total
Securities and investment securities
Available-for-sale securities
Shares	1,359	-	-	1,359
Debt securities	-	32	-	32
Other	-	147	-	147

2) Financial assets and financial liabilities not carried on the consolidated balance sheets at fair value
(In millions of yen)

Class	Fair value
	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3	Total
Long-term time deposits	-	3,900	-	3,900

Note: Explanation of the valuation techniques and inputs used to calculate fair value

Securities and investment securities

Listed shares and, of debt securities, corporate bonds are valued using market prices. Because listed shares are traded in active markets, their fair value is classified as Level 1. On the other hand, because, of debt securities, corporate bonds are acquired infrequently in the market and their prices are not considered to reflect market prices in active markets, their fair value is classified as Level 2.

Of debt securities, private placements have no market price. Fair value is therefore calculated as the present value of the total principal and interest amounts, discounted at a rate that accounts for the tenor of the security, and is classified as Level 2.

Other comprises investment trusts. Because there is no market transaction price and there are no restrictions on cancellation or redemption claims significant enough for market participants to require compensation for risk, the standard price is treated as fair value, which is classified as Level 2.

Long-term time deposits

The value of long-term time deposits is calculated as the present value of the total principal and interest amounts, discounted at the interest rate anticipated if a similar new deposit was made. Their fair value is classified as Level 2.

9. Notes on Real Estate for Rent, etc.

(1) Matters Related to the Status of Real Estate for Rent, etc.

The Group owns commercial facilities and dwellings for rent, as well as unused properties, in Toyama Prefecture and other areas.

(2) Matters Related to the Fair Value of Real Estate for Rent, etc.

(In millions of yen)

Amount reported on the consolidated balance sheet	Fair value
2,598	3,026

Notes:

1. The amount reported on the consolidated balance sheet represents the acquisition cost less the accumulated depreciation and impairment.
2. Fair value as of the end of the fiscal year under review is determined based on the acquisition price for properties acquired during the fiscal year under review, and on the assessed value of fixed assets tax or appraised and estimated value for the other properties.

10. Notes on Per Share Information

(1) Net Assets per Share 1,675.69 yen

Note: In calculating net assets per share, the Company's shares held as trust assets by the "Board Benefit Trust (BBT)" and "Employee Stock Ownership Plan (J-ESOP)" are included in treasury shares, which are deducted from the total number of issued shares at the end of the fiscal year. The number of treasury shares at the end of the fiscal year was 2,461,000 shares, of which the number of the Company's shares held by the trusts at the end of the fiscal year was 901,000 shares.

(2) Profit per Share 139.72 yen

Note: In calculating profit per share, the Company's shares held as trust assets by the "Board Benefit Trust (BBT)" and "Employee Stock Ownership Plan (J-ESOP)" are included in treasury shares, which are deducted when calculating the average number of shares during the fiscal year. The average number of treasury shares during the fiscal year was 2,266,000 shares, of which the average number of the Company's shares held by the trusts during the fiscal year was 569,000 shares.

Notes to the Non-consolidated Financial Statements

1. Notes on Matters Related to Significant Accounting Policies

(1) Criteria and Methods for Evaluation of Assets

1) Securities

Shares of subsidiaries and associates

Stated at cost using the moving-average method.

Available-for-sale securities

Apart from shares, etc. without market prices:

Stated at fair value (the entire valuation difference is recognized directly in net assets, and the cost of securities sold is calculated using the moving-average method). Hybrid financial instruments in which embedded derivatives cannot be measured separately are stated at fair value in their entirety, with the valuation difference recognized in non-operating income or expenses.

Shares, etc. without market prices:

Stated at cost using the moving-average method.

2) Inventories

Costs on construction contracts in progress:

Stated at cost using the identified cost method.

Raw materials and supplies:

Stated at cost using the periodic average method (with the book value written down in the case of a decline in profitability).

(2) Methods for Depreciation of Non-current Assets

1) Property, plant and equipment (excluding leased assets)

Depreciated using the straight-line method.

2) Intangible assets (excluding leased assets)

Software for internal use is amortized using the straight-line method based on the usable period within the Company (five years).

3) Leased assets

Leased assets related to finance lease transactions not involving the transfer of ownership are depreciated using the straight-line method, based on the assumption that the useful life equals the lease term and the residual value equals zero.

(3) Criteria for Recognition of Provisions

1) Allowance for doubtful accounts

To provide for bad debt losses on trade receivables, loans receivable, and so forth, an allowance is recognized in the amount calculated using the loan loss ratio for general claims, and in the amount expected to be uncollectible taking into account the collectability on an individual basis for specific claims such as claims with a possibility of default.

2) Provision for loss on construction contracts

To provide for future losses on construction contracts, a provision is recognized in the amount of estimated losses for construction contracts in progress as of the end of the fiscal year under review that are likely to incur losses whose amounts can be reasonably estimated.

3) Provision for retirement benefits

To provide for the payment of retirement benefits to employees, a provision is recognized based on the estimated amount of retirement benefit obligations as of the end of the fiscal year under review. In calculating retirement benefit obligations, the estimated amount of retirement benefits is attributed to periods up to the end of the fiscal year under review using the straight-line basis.

Past service cost is expensed using the straight-line method over a fixed number of years (five years) within the employees' average remaining service period at incurrence.

Actuarial gains and losses are expensed in the fiscal year of incurrence.

4) Provision for share awards for directors (and other officers)

To provide for future payments of the Company's shares to the Company's full-time Directors, Audit and Supervisory Board Members, and Executive Officers in accordance with the Share-Based Board Benefit Regulations, a provision is recognized in the estimated amount of share payment obligations at the end of the fiscal year under review.

5) Provision for share awards for employees

To provide for future payments of the Company's shares to the Company's employees, in accordance with the Share-Based Employee Benefit Regulations, a provision is recognized in the estimated amount of share payment obligations at the end of the fiscal year under review.

(4) Criteria for Recognition of Revenue and Expenses

Criteria for recognition of net sales of completed construction contracts and cost of sales of completed construction contracts

Net sales of completed construction contracts are revenue from commissioned construction work based on construction contracts with customers.

Revenue from construction contracts for which performance obligations are fulfilled over a certain period of time is recognized progressively over a certain period of time, based on the degree of progress towards fulfilling performance obligations, estimated using the cost-to-cost method.

For other contracts, net sales of completed construction contracts and cost of sales of completed construction contracts are recognized at the time when the construction is completed and the specified object is delivered.

2. Notes on Revenue Recognition

Regarding revenue recognition, information fundamental to an understanding of revenue is the same as presented in the notes to the consolidated financial statements, and has therefore been omitted.

3. Notes on Changes in Presentation Methods

(the "Company") for the fiscal year from April 1, 2025 to March 31, 2026.

In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position and results of operations of the corporate group that consists of the Company and its consolidated subsidiary for the period covered by the consolidated financial statements in accordance with corporate accounting standards generally accepted in Japan.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in Japan. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Company and its consolidated subsidiary, and have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities as an auditor, in accordance with the provisions related to professional ethics in Japan (including provisions applicable to audits of financial statements of entities with a high social impact). We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Audit and Supervisory Board Members and the Audit and Supervisory Board are responsible for monitoring the execution of Directors' duties related to designing and operating the financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements

Our responsibilities are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements from an independent standpoint in an auditor's report, based on our audit. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error, and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the decisions of users taken on the basis of the consolidated financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in Japan, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error; design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, selecting and applying procedures based on our judgment; and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances when assessing the risks, while the purpose of the audit of the consolidated financial statements is not to express an opinion on the effectiveness of the internal controls of the Company and its consolidated subsidiary.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the way they are applied, as well as the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made, by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting in the preparation of the consolidated financial statements and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the ability of the Company and its consolidated subsidiary to continue as going concerns. If we conclude that there is a material uncertainty over the going concern basis, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the consolidated financial statements or, if the disclosures of the material uncertainty in the consolidated financial statements are inadequate, to issue a modified opinion on the consolidated financial statements. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company and its consolidated subsidiary to cease to continue as going concerns.

- Assess whether the presentation of and disclosures in the consolidated financial statements are in accordance with corporate accounting standards generally accepted in Japan, evaluate the presentation, structure, and content of the consolidated financial statements including the related disclosures, and assess whether the consolidated financial statements represent the underlying transactions and accounting events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- Plan and perform the audit of the consolidated financial statements to obtain sufficient and appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the Company and its consolidated subsidiary as a basis for expressing an opinion on the consolidated financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision, and review of the audit of the consolidated financial statements. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with Audit and Supervisory Board Members and the Audit and Supervisory Board regarding the planned scope and timing of the audit, significant audit findings including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit, and other matters required under the auditing standards.

We also provide Audit and Supervisory Board Members and the Audit and Supervisory Board with a statement that we have complied with provisions related to professional ethics in Japan regarding independence, and communicate with them about matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence and, where applicable, safeguards that are in place to reduce or eliminate obstacles.
